Premier Ion Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu Arrive For First of Series of Conferences at Which Diplomats Will be Told What Plans Adolf Hitler Has For Their Countries

BULLETIN
Berlin, July 26.—(P)—Adolf Hitler this afternoon received Rumanian Premier Ion Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu in the great hall of the Berghof, his mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden, German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and the Rumanian minister to Berlin were present at the conference. Informal circles said the Rumanian statesmen would leave tonight for Rome.

Salzburg, Germany, July 26.—(P)—Premier Ion Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu of Rumania arrived here today for the first of a series of weekend conferences at which Balkan diplomats will be told what plans Adolf Hitler has for their countries.

They were to have lunch with German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop at the latter's Fuschl castle, nearby.

The program for this afternoon, according to informed German sources, included tea at Lake Konigsee, which is near Hitler's retreat at Berchtesgaden. This was taken as an indication the Rumanian guests were likely to be received by the Führer.

The Rumanians were met at the station by von Ribbentrop and representatives of the army and the Nazi party. After taking a salute of honor in company with the German foreign minister, they went to their hotel and from there to Fuschl Castle.

Uneasy southeastern Europe, historic maelstrom of political and racial feuding, apparently was in for a little mediation of the authoritarian German kind. (Turn to Page Eleven)

LACKAWANNA HAS A MURDER AND SUICIDE

Seranton, July 26.—(P)—An unemployed coal miner, angered because he broke a date, shot and killed 19-year-old Mary Rogan, then ended his own life with a bullet in the head.

State Motor Police Corporal Kenneth Weist said the miner, Eyo Moretti, 24, fired three bullets into the girl's body as she sat last night with a girl friend in her home at Olyphant, near here. He said Moretti came into the Rogan home, said "hello," pulled a pistol from his pocket and started firing. The friend, Frances Vesta, was unharmed.

The officer said he learned Miss Rogan agreed to see Moretti last night but he called off his dog. Lackawanna County Coroner Dr. J. J. Benedict issued a certificate of murder and suicide after an investigation.

RESIGNATION MAY MEAN END OF THE LEAGUE

Frenchman Who Has Been Secretary-General at Geneva Since July 1, 1933, States "Realities" Of Present Make Office No Longer Necessary

DATE NOT ANNOUNCED

Geneva, July 26.—(P)—Joseph A. C. Avenol, Frenchman who has been secretary-general of the League of Nations since July 1, 1933, announced his resignation today, stating that the "realities" of the present times made his office no longer necessary.

Thus Avenol signed what may well be the formal death sentence of the League as a political body—a death it has been dying steadily since 1932, when Japan's armies were sent into Manchuria.

Avenol submitted his resignation last night in a telegram sent to the governments of the League's member states.

Stating that until September, 1936, when he visited Premier Mussolini at Rome, he had believed "certain inevitable reforms would enable the League x x x to regroup the forces which were moving away from it," Avenol's wife said (Turn to Page Eleven)

BOMB SCARES IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, July 26.—(P)—The Steel City, wary of possible sabotage in its many defense industries, today was bomb-conscious after a threat to "blow up" the University of Pittsburgh, the world's tallest school building.

The threat came in a telephone call to a firm alarm operator in a municipal building last night.

The threat didn't materialize and city officials believed it the work of a crank, but extra private guards and plain clothes men were stationed at the 555-foot multi-million-dollar building, popularly known as "The Cathedral of Learning."

As Nazi Warplanes Surge Over the United Kingdom Despite Toll Taken By Anti-Aircraft Fire and Combat Craft, London Acknowledges That a German Plane and Torpedo Boat Attack in English Channel Resulted in Serious Losses

CHALLENGE OFFERED TO BERLIN CLAIMS

London, July 26.—(P)—The Admiralty acknowledged today that a German plane and torpedo boat attack yesterday on a 21ship convoy in the English Channel sank five and damaged five merchantmen and two British destroyers.

The Admiralty also announced loss of the trawler Fleming in a clash with four German dive bombers. The Admiralty challenged the German High Command's claim that 11 ships totaling 43,000 tons in the convoy were sunk.

London, July 26.—Nazi warplanes surged over the United Kingdom again today despite the toll taken by anti-aircraft fire and combat craft in the almost continuous British-German air war.

Britain counted 28 raiders shot down yesterday by her defenders. One German bomber, hotly pursued by British fighters, jettisoned its bomb load over a southeast England town today. The explosion caused some casualties and damaged several houses.

In southwest England this morning a German bomber was shot down and the three crewmen killed. (Turn to Page Eleven)

WALLACE MAY QUIT CABINET TO CAMPAIGN

Washington, July 26.—(P)—President Roosevelt gave a clear indication today that Secretary Wallace would resign from the cabinet as soon as he began active campaigning as the Democratic nominee for vice president.

The chief executive told a press conference, in response to a request for comment on his first talk with his new running mate on campaign strategy yesterday, that all he could do was to relate a story.

The story was that in 1920, after Mr. Roosevelt was nominated for vice president on the Democratic ticket, he saw President Woodrow Wilson and asked when he should submit his resignation as assistant secretary of the navy.

The president said Wilson told him he had concluded on the basis of historical precedence that he should not resign until the start of active campaigning. That course was followed.

Also when Wallace might start active campaigning, Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know. Wallace asserted yesterday that he and the president had decided that the secretary should undertake no political activity until after formal acceptance of his nomination around August 20.

In response to further questions, he had nothing to say on reports that Governor Lloyd Stark (Turn to Page Eleven)

No Action on Choosing Of Local Draft Boards

Harrisburg, July 26.—(P)—Many citizens of Pennsylvania want to serve on the 420 local draft boards that will be set up to administer selective service in the state but Adjutant General Edward Martin emphasized today that no action on appointments would be taken until after legislation, now pending in congress, is enacted.

The draft plan, he said, "is not yet in final form, and cannot be put in final form until the legislation is finally passed." It then will be submitted to Governor James.

Col. William H. Zierdt, executive assistant to the adjutant general, estimated approximately 1,000,000 men are available in Pennsylvania between 21 and 31 for military service.

DISCUSS STEPS TAKEN TO HELP REFUGEE TOTS

Washington, July 26.—(P)—Assessing that the United States had a deep desire to do everything possible to help remove children from England, President Roosevelt said today the administration eventually might ask for reasonable assurances that refugee children could obtain safe passage to this country.

The first step, he told a press conference, involves providing perhaps 10,000 children in Britain with passports.

The next step, he said, would be to find out what the British government would be able to do about sending the children to the United States, or perhaps Canada, in British vessels.

A little later on, the President continued, the stage might be reached when the United States would ask for reasonable assurance that if American vessels went over to evacuate them, there would be no torpedoings.

There are three sides to the problem, the President said, on being asked for comment on legislation pending on congress to permit the use of American vessels in war zones to bring out children.

First, he said, there is the attitude of the British government, then our own deep desire to do everything we can, and finally there is the safety of the children to consider. The latter, he said, is the crux of the matter.

NET TIGHTENS IN DOUBLE SLAYING

Pittsburgh, July 26.—(P)—Police today followed up additional clues which, they claimed, drew a net of suspicion tighter around a 58-year-old widower questioned in the slaying of a couple in a parked automobile here Wednesday.

At a formal hearing, however, the suspect denied any connection with the shooting of Carrie Kolb, middle-aged divorcee, and her escort, John Edgar Ewing, 63. No charge was filed against him.

Declaring that a jealous suitor did the shooting, Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan said the suspect had spent large sums of money in an apparent attempt to win the affection of Miss Kolb.

By WILLIAM B. ARDERY
Colorado Springs, Colo., July 26.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie, pleased with his reception on a speaking tour through Wyoming and Utah, turned today to a consideration of campaign tactics to be used in wooing New York state's potent votes.

The Republican nominee arranged a conference with J. Russell Sprague, New York Republican national committee man and a manager of Thomas E. Dewey's unsuccessful drive for the Republican nomination.

Willkie was reported considering a swing through the Democratic south on his way to his home town, Elwood, Ind., to deliver his formal acceptance address August 17.

The nominee returned to his vacation hotel yesterday after traveling 1,400 miles on his swing through Wyoming and Utah. He said he planned to "take next week off" and retire to some secluded place to work on his acceptance speech.

Senate Military Affairs Committee at Work on Methods of Curbing Peacetime Draft Dodgers Under Pending Conscription Bill Has Proposal That Would Impose Five Years Imprisonment and Fine for Ducking Service

TO PROTECT CIVILIAN JOBS OF MEN IN RANKS

By The Associated Press
Washington, July 26.—(P)—The senate military committee went to work today on methods of curbing peacetime draft dodgers under the pending conscription bill.

It studied penalty proposals which would impose five years imprisonment, and fines up to $10,000 for any man between 18 and 65 who sought to evade compulsory military service if the measure becomes law.

Having decided to recommend passage of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill in principle, the committee devoted its session yesterday to the question of job security for conscripts who would be called to the colors for a year's service.

Three amendments were agreed on to protect the civilian jobs of men in the ranks.

As these amendments were being drafted, the compulsory training legislation came in for criticism in the senate. Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) said the bill would send the country "down the road to war."

When Senator Reynolds (D-NC) said it was "asinine" to vote billions for defense without troops to man the weapons, Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) retorted that the (Turn to Page Eleven)

"I AM" CULT LEADERS WELCOME EARLY TRIAL

Los Angeles, July 26.—(P)—Six Los Angeles leaders of the "I Am" religious organization, among 24 indicted throughout the nation on mail fraud and conspiracy charges, went free today under bonds, pending arraignment July 31.

"We welcome an early trial so that the 'Divine Truth' of the mighty I Am presence will prevail," said Mrs. Edna W. Ballard, widow of the cult's founder.

"I am serene in my confidence that we shall be vindicated. Our cause is just. I thank the United States government for indicting us."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Norman Neukom said the "I Am" group had collected nearly $3,000, 600 since its founding in 1920 and the defendants are accused of falsely representing that the leaders had the power to become immortal.

HARRIS FRIENDS ENTER PROTEST

Pittsburgh, July 26.—(P)—The pre-convention support Allegheny County Republican Chairman Frank Harris gave Wendell Willkie, the party's presidential nominee, was used as a wedge today in a demand that Harris be "re-organized" in State Republican councils.

Harris, who backed former Governor Gifford Pinchot in the 1938 primary, has frequently protested that the James administration is giving him the "cold shoulder."

Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier, county vice chairman, cited Harris' early support of Willkie in criticizing state Republican leaders for failure to appoint Harris to the new state executive committee.

Torrance, in Harrisburg, declined to comment on the telegram. The protest occurred on the eve of negotiations between the state organization and independent Willkie leaders to select a co-nominator to manage the presidential campaign in the state.

Harris said he would attend a "protest" meeting of eastern Pennsylvania Republican leaders called by Graybill Diehm, Lancaster county chairman, at Lancaster Saturday.

MODERATE TEMPERATURE SUNDAY FORECAST BY THE WEATHER BUREAU

That Wave of Cool Air Said To be Sweeping Out of Northwest Toward Pennsylvania Due to Bring Break in Week-Long Heat Wave

419 DEATHS RECORDED

By The Associated Press
Temperatures soared into the nineties again today in Pennsylvania, but forecasts indicated showers and a mass of cool air from the northwest would bring relief tomorrow.

Rising rapidly, thermometer readings hit 90 shortly after mid-morning in Wilkes-Barre, Reading, York, Easton, and other eastern Pennsylvania communities—and a perspiring public got set for another day similar to yesterday, when the readings leveled off just below 100.

Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania death toll from the week-long heat wave was increased to 42 by four additional drownings. Since the heat began last Friday, 19 have died from heat prostration and 23 from drowning.

Cool winds brought lower temperatures to most of the heat-stricken midwest today, marking the breakup of the season's longest heat wave.

A trough of low pressure extending from Utah and Arizona to the Lake Region moved slowly eastward and southward, pushing before it the stagnant air responsible for the torrid spell.

Although high temperatures still prevailed south of the belt of cool air, the weather bureau said moderate temperatures were in prospect for all sections of the (Turn to Page Seven)

Prominent Delegates to Pan-American Conference Optimistically Predict An Agreement on The Troublesome Question of Trusteeship of European Possessions After Hull Confers With Argentine Delegate

COMPROMISE BELIEVED RAPIDLY SHAPING UP

BY J. C. STARK
Havana, July 26.—(P)—Prominent delegates to the Pan-American conference optimistically predicted today an agreement on the troublesome question of trusteeship of European possessions in the western hemisphere after Secretary of State Cordell Hull conferred with Leopoldo Melo, of Argentina, in an effort to iron out their divergent views.

The Argentine delegate has opposed Hull's proposal of Cuban and Brazilian ideas for joint mandates over European possessions which may be threatened with a change of ownership as a result of the war.

Following the conference, Hull joined the Brazilian delegate, Mauricio Nabeuco, and the Cuban foreign minister, Miguel Angel Campa, in Campa's office, presumably to inform them of Melo's views.

Melo joined them later, and it was when this conference broke up that Nabeuco, who usually wears a stern and taciturn expression, smilingly declared:

"I believe we still have a chance to agree."

The belief among observers that a compromise was shaping up also was bolstered when an Argentine (Turn to Page Eleven)

JAPANESE-AMERICAN INCIDENTS SETTLED

Shanghai, July 26.—(P)—A Japanese embassy spokesman declared today that two recent Japanese-American incidents at Tsingtao involving United States sailors had been settled with American expressions of regret.

The first incident was a clash between United States sailors and Japanese policemen reported last Monday, which Domei, Japanese official news agency, said started when two sailors left a cafe without paying their bill.

The United States consulate at Tsingtao accepted Japanese demands for an apology, compensation and steps to prevent a recurrence, the spokesman announced.

HEAVY GUNFIRE OFF NORTH IRELAND COAST

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 26.—(P)—Heavy gunfire was heard off the northern Ireland coast early today and flashes of fire between ships and airplanes could be seen from the shore.

Witnesses on the coast said German air raiders apparently had attacked a convoy. British fighter planes sped to the rescue.

The shore observers said one German plane appeared to have been shot down.

The raid was the first on a convoy to be witnessed in North Irish waters.

Impish George Bernard Shaw Seeks to Brush Aside Fact That He is 84 Years Old Today

London, July 26.—(P)—Impish George Bernard Shaw, who confesses he is "too old to have any conscience" about this war or "any other matter," sought to brush aside that today is his 84th birthday.

It was an "unfortunate fact" he wished to conceal, "not to advertise," he said.

But one London newspaper duly recorded the anniversary in its court circular column. The great man, who admits he is smarter than anyone else, even than the British foreign office, planned to spend the day quietly in his fourth-floor apartment in the rest of it.

"I AM" CULT LEADERS WELCOME EARLY TRIAL

Los Angeles, July 26.—(P)—Six Los Angeles leaders of the "I Am" religious organization, among 24 indicted throughout the nation on mail fraud and conspiracy charges, went free today under bonds, pending arraignment July 31.

"We welcome an early trial so that the 'Divine Truth' of the mighty I Am presence will prevail," said Mrs. Edna W. Ballard, widow of the cult's founder.

"I am serene in my confidence that we shall be vindicated. Our cause is just. I thank the United States government for indicting us."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Norman Neukom said the "I Am" group had collected nearly $30,000 since its founding in 1930 and the defendants are accused of falsely representing that the leaders had the power to become immortal.

HARRIS FRIENDS ENTER PROTEST

Pittsburgh, July 26.—(P)—The pre-convention support Allegheny County Republican Chairman Frank Harris gave Wendell Willkie, the party's presidential nominee, was used as a wedge today in a demand that Harris be "recognized" in State Republican councils.

Harris, who backed former Governor Clifford Finch in the 1938 primary, has frequently protested that the James administration is giving him the "cold shoulder."

Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier, county vice chairman, cited Harris' early support of Willkie in criticizing state Republican leaders for failure to appoint Harris to the new state executive committee.

Torrence, in Harrisburg, declined to comment on the telegram.

The protest occurred on the eve of negotiations between the state organization and independent Willkie leaders to select a co-ordinator to manage the presidential campaign in the state.

Harris said he would attend a "protest" meeting of eastern Pennsylvania Republican leaders called by Graybill Dicht, Lancaster county chairman, at Lancaster Saturday.

MODERATE TEMPERATURE SUNDAY FORECAST BY THE WEATHER BUREAU

That Wave of Cool Air Said To be Sweeping Out of Northwest Toward Pennsylvania Due to Bring Break in Week-Long Heat Wave

419 DEATHS RECORDED

By The Associated Press
Temperatures soared into the nineties again today in Pennsylvania, but forecasts indicated showers and a mass of cool air from the northwest would bring relief tomorrow.

Rising rapidly, thermometer readings hit 90 shortly after mid-morning in Wilkes-Barre, Reading, York, Easton, and other eastern Pennsylvania communities—and a perspiring public got set for another day similar to yesterday, when the readings leveled off just below 100.

Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania death toll from the week-long heat wave was increased to 42 by four additional drownings. Since the heat began last Friday, 19 have died from heat prostration and 23 from drowning.

Cool winds brought lower temperatures to most of the heat-stricken midwest today, marking the breakup of the season's longest heat wave.

A trough of low pressure extending from Utah and Arizona to the Lake Region moved slowly eastward and southward, pushing before it the stagnant air responsible for the torrid spell.

Although high temperatures still prevailed south of the belt of cool air, the weather bureau said moderate temperatures were in prospect for all sections of the (Turn to Page Seven)

SITUATION IN CUBA IS CLEARING

Prominent Delegates to Pan-American Conference Optimistically Predict An Agreement on The Troublesome Question of Trusteeship of European Possessions After Hull Confers With Argentine Delegate

COMPROMISE BELIEVED RAPIDLY SHAPING UP

By J. C. STARK
Havana, July 26.—(P)—Prominent delegates to the Pan-American conference optimistically predicted today an agreement on the troublesome question of trusteeship of European possessions in the western hemisphere after Secretary of State Cordell Hull conferred with Leopoldo Melo, of Argentina, in an effort to iron out their divergent views.

The Argentine delegate has opposed Hull's proposal of Cuban and Brazilian ideas for joint mandates over European possessions which may be threatened with a change of ownership as a result of the war.

Following the conference, Hull joined the Brazilian delegate, Mauricio Nabuco, and the Cuban foreign minister, Miguel Angel Campesino, in Campesino's office, presumably to inform them of Melo's views.

Melo joined them later, and it was when this conference broke up that Nabuco, who usually wears a stern and taciturn expression, smilingly declared:

"I believe we still have a chance to agree."

The belief among observers that a compromise was shaping up also was bolstered when an Argentine (Turn to Page Eleven)

JAPANESE-AMERICAN INCIDENTS SETTLED

Shanghai, July 26.—(P)—A Japanese embassy spokesman declared today that two recent Japanese-American incidents at Tsingtao involving United States sailors had been settled with American expressions of regret.

The first incident was a clash between United States sailors and Japanese policemen reported last Monday, which Domei, Japanese official news agency, said started when two sailors left a cafe without paying their bill.

The United States consulate at Tsingtao accepted Japanese demands for an apology, compensation and steps to prevent a recurrence, the spokesman announced.

HEAVY GUNFIRE OFF NORTH IRELAND COAST

Belfast, Northern Ireland, July 26.—(P)—Heavy gunfire was heard off the northern Ireland coast early today and flashes of fire between ships and airplanes could be seen from the shore.

Witnesses on the coast said German air raiders apparently had attacked a convoy. British fighter planes sped to the rescue.

The shore observers said one German plane appeared to have been shot down.

The raid was the first on a convoy to be witnessed in North Irish waters.

LEWIS HAS NO JOBS

Philadelphia, July 26.—(P)—Lieutenant Governor Samuel S. Lewis said he has no jobs to distribute among political workers who helped elect him in 1938.

Addressing the Germantown Republican Club last night, he said: "My only regret is that I have no patronage to distribute so that I might show my appreciation in some tangible manner."

Impish George Bernard Shaw Seeks to Brush Aside Fact That He is 84 Years Old Today

London, July 26.—(P)—Impish George Bernard Shaw, who confesses he is "too old to have any conscience" about this war or "any other matter," sought to brush aside that today is his 84th birthday.

It was an "unfortunate fact" he wished to conceal, "not to advertise," he said.

But one London newspaper duly recorded the anniversary in its court circular column.

The great man, who admits he is smarter than anyone else, even than the British foreign office, planned to spend the day quietly in his fourth-floor apartment in Whitehall Court, in the center of London.

Since the outbreak of the war the irrepressible Shaw has taken keen delight in writing letters-to-the-editor airing his views on the war.

Last October he called on then Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to pursue the war "with logical ruthlessness" by bombing Berlin—or else have a peace conference.

Shaw demanded to know what all the fighting was about, declaring he was "born a coward" and disliked "extremely all this black-out business and ruinous taxation and the rest of it."

TEMPERATURE IN BORO REACHES
SEASON'S PEAK

After experiencing the hottest day of the year and one of the most uncomfortable nights, Warren residents today were cheered by the fact that government observers believe the current heat wave has passed its peak and that cooler weather will be forthcoming tomorrow.

Unofficially the mercury climbed to 98 degrees in some parts of the business section between 3:30 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Officially, the maximum temperature was 95 degrees, according to Weather Observer Harold Johnson. At the mixing plant of the Pennsylvania Gas Company the high point for the day was 91 degrees at 4 o'clock.

There was little relief from the heat during the night and most residents had difficulty in getting their sleep. At nine o'clock the temperature had dropped only to 81 degrees, while at midnight it was still 76.

Lowest temperature recorded in the 24-hour period since yesterday noon was 74 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning at the gas company's mixing plant.

The temperature started to rise this morning even more rapidly than yesterday. By 10 o'clock today it was 83, while yesterday's reading at the same time was 78. However, there was more breeze today and it was expected that the mercury would halt its climb before it hit the peak of yesterday.

The extreme heat caused scores of families to take to the highways or go to picnicking spots last evening. Every popular spot for outings was crowded with residents seeking relief from the blistering heat in Warren, Allegheny Park, Sandstone Springs, Warren-Penn. Washington and other recreation parks all had their share of picnickers.

Local residents who have cottages along the Conewango creek, the Allegheny river and at Lake Chautauqua took advantage of them to gain relief.

Today's weather forecast calls for thunderstorms and cooler weather tonight, with more showers and continued cool tomorrow. Sunday is expected to be fair with moderate temperature.

FIRST SETTLERS
OF YOUNGVILLE
PAID TRIBUTE

Youngville, July 26—A monument made of two millstones from the first grist mill in Warren county was dedicated Thursday afternoon as a memorial to Darius and Joseph Mead, whose mill did much to aid early settlers in building permanent homes in the Brokenstraw valley.

The service, held at the memorial, located at the junction of U. S. Route 6 and the old Pittsfield road, was in charge of Mrs. Leota Day. The program opened with the singing of America and the reading of appropriate scripture passages by the Rev. C. M. Reed.

Several incidents in the history of the Mead family were related by Attorney Frank Bully, of Erie. He told how Darius and Joseph Mead came into the wilderness of the Brokenstraw valley in 1795 and made their homes. Darius had gone away to fight in the American Revolution at the age of 17 and later died in the war of 1812.

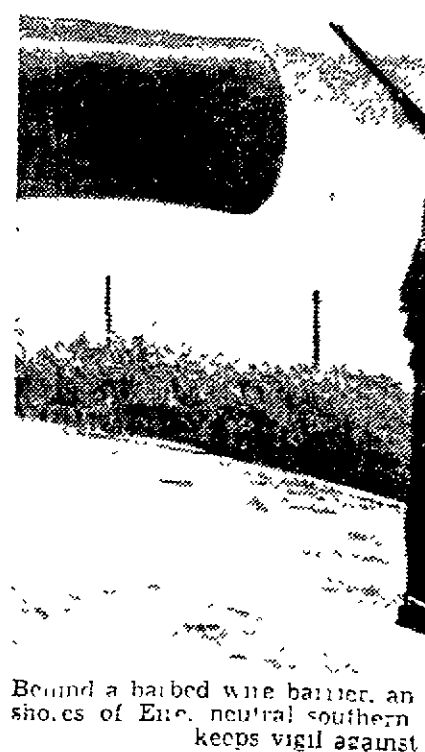

Mrs. Althea Barton, president of the Mead reunion, presented the monument and the plot of ground on which it is located to the borough of Youngville in behalf of the Mead families who erected it there. She said the old millstones and the new cement work, located between an old road and a new one, symbolized the connection between the past and the present and expressed a wish that the town would carry on the fine traditions of the past into the future.

The monument was unveiled by Joan McKinney and Jane McDowell.

Warren Kay, as burgess of Youngville, accepted the gift, which with the exception of the Agrelius fountain on Island Park, is the borough's only memorial monument.

CONSTABLE AT
SHEFFIELD DIES
VERY SUDDENLY

Sheffield, July 26 (AP)—James J. Hayes, veteran constable of Sheffield township and one of the community's most highly popular public figures, died about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Warren General Hospital after a few hours' illness. He had been rushed by ambulance to the institution. He was 64 years old.

In failing health, he was taken to the hospital and he died about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. He had been in the hospital for a few hours.

He was a native of Ireland and had been in the constable's office for many years. He was a member of the Irish-American community and was highly respected.

In his youth he served an apprenticeship as a hand glass bottle blower with the Sheffield Glass Bottle Company, now the Pennsylvania Bottle Company and he continued in the employ of the glass firm until 1915. In 1916 he secured employment with the Pennsylvania Gas Company at their Royston pump station and had worked there ever since, or a period of 24 years. Only yesterday his 64th birthday anniversary, he became eligible for a pension from that firm.

Mr. Hayes long has served the community and township as a police official, at one time having been night policeman here. He served as deputy constable under the late Police Chief McFarland and also in that capacity during the time H. H. Jefferson was police chief. Several years ago he was elected constable and has been retained in that office ever since.

On Sept. 23, 1901, he married Miss Maude Ethna Ekas who survives, with the following children: Ethna Beer, of New York City; James Jr., and Margaret, both at home; A. sister, Miss Anna Colson, of Kane, and several nieces and nephews in the state of California also survive.

CONSTABLE AT SHEFFIELD DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Sheffield, July 26—James J. Hayes, veteran constable of Sheffield township and one of the community's most highly popular public figures, died about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Warren General Hospital, a few hours after he had been rushed by ambulance to the institution. He was 65 years old.

In failing health the past two years he nevertheless had been up and around until three days ago when he contracted a cold which confined him to his bed. His condition grew steadily worse and yesterday morning at about 7:00 o'clock his physician ordered him removed to the hospital, but efforts there to counteract the effects of a throat infection and lung congestion that had developed, weakening the heart, were unavailing.

News of his sudden passing came as a distinct shock to the residents of the community and township, who profoundly regret losing their likeable fellow citizen.

The day of the popular Jimmy's death was the 65th anniversary of his birth, which occurred in Warren on July 25, 1875. A year after his birth, his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes, moved to Sheffield, which has been his home during the intervening 64 years.

In his youth he served an apprenticeship as a hand glass bottle blower with the Sheffield Glass Bottle Company, now the Pennsylvania Bottle Company and he continued in the employ of the glass firm until 1915. YEAR'S TRAINING SCHEDULE

If you find that "you're in the army now" a few months hence under the yet-to-be-enacted compulsory military training law, the War Department says your year of training will be something like this:

First two months—Introduction to army life and basic military instruction.

Next eight months—Specialist training, with the men expected to drop into branches of the service to which they are adapted or prefer; unit training, with emphasis on functions as a combat team.

Next month and a half—Training to develop the practical application of the previous instruction, with field exercises and maneuvers.

Last two weeks—"Deprocessing," which would include assignment to National Guard units, for instance, and preparations to return home.

HAD THAT CAR INSPECTED?

The Pennsylvania Motor Federation, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association, reminds motorists that they have only a week in which to get their cars inspected. The current official inspection period, which began May 1, ends at midnight next Wednesday.

Citing reports that indicate several hundred thousand motor vehicles have not been officially inspected during the past three months, Richard B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the Federation, predicts "an inevitable, last minute rush at the majority of official inspection stations."

"On and after next Thursday, every Pennsylvania-registered motor vehicle must display a red-and-white inspection sticker, issued during May, June, or July," Secretary-Manager Maxwell said. All stickers issued prior to May 1 are invalid, and the owner or driver of every motor vehicle operating without a sticker for the current period is subject to arrest and a fine of $10 and costs.

"In view of the inevitable, last-minute rush, motorists who have not had their cars inspected during this period should do so immediately. If they have been out of the state and return after the Wednesday, midnight, deadline, they should have the inspections made at the first official inspection station they pass after crossing the state line."

TRAVEL IN CANADA

Officials of Kiwanis clubs in the section are being contacted by the various Kiwanis organizations in Canada to bring out the actual truth about travel in the Dominion. Much false propaganda has been written or spoken that the Canadians want the situation cleared up for once and all.

Following are the rules that govern travel into Canada:

Passports are not required of American visitors to Canada, and United States citizens may, as heretofore, proceed to Canada without any specified documentation. For convenience in returning over the border, the United States tourist should carry some identifying documents to establish his identity and support any questions he may be asked. Such papers as, an old passport, birth or baptismal certificate, voter's certificate, tax receipt, club membership cards, proof of ownership of car, letter from bank manager or responsible municipal officer, driver's license, or similar papers would be helpful. Naturalized citizens should carry their naturalization certificates. MARVIN JONES MIGHT BOLSTER PARTY HARMONY

Washington, July 26.—Although President Roosevelt has said publicly he "assumes" Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace won't resign in order to campaign for the vice presidency, there are New Deal strategists who are hoping the secretary will step down.

They see two things to be gained that way; some of the disgruntled party brethren could be appeased, and farmers who don't like the Wallace crop-control program could be brought back into the fold.

To replace Wallace they are suggesting Congressman Marvin Jones, of Texas, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Farmers who oppose Wallace's production-control ideas would warm up to Jones, since he has been identified with the more popular domestic allotment-cost of production plan. And since he is a Garner Democrat, putting him in the cabinet would assuage a lot of wounded feelings in the southwest.

Senator Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, really started the Jones boom. At the convention he discovered the Oklahoma delegation wouldn't go for Wallace; in a caucus, the secretary got only four votes. So Lee hunted up Harry Hopkins and suggested that Wallace, if nominated, be replaced by Jones.

Hopkins replied that he naturally had no authority to promise anything of the kind, but would promise to lay the request before the boss back in Washington. Lee returned to his delegation and made his report; and merely on promise, the Wallace vote in the Oklahoma delegation jumped from four to 11.

To Lee, and to others, that indicates the kind of gains the New Deal could make by the change.

Current betting, however, is that Wallace will keep his job, but will go on leave of absence or inactive duty status, for the duration of the campaign. In that case, direction of the department would fall to the hands of Under-Secretary Claude Wickard, formerly a regional director for triple-A, and a one-time Indiana farmer.

Without saying much about it, the navy is building up its strength in auxiliary vessels; and some of its recent acquisitions hint that the navy proposes to be all set if it should become necessary soon to ship a moderate-sized expeditionary force off to some new world spot or other.

Ships most recently acquired are the Santa Barbara and Santa Maria, 16,000-ton passenger ships from the Grace Line, and the 14,000-ton liners President Jackson and President Grant, from the Maritime Commission. Classed as auxiliaries, these ships are in fact being refitted as transports. That doesn't point to any European expeditionary force—for such an undertaking the navy would have to fit out transports by the dozen—but the four ships could carry several regiments to some trouble spots in this hemisphere.

The Maritime Commission, incidentally, is proving its value from a preparedness angle. In addition to the two president lin-

WANTS COOLER MANSION

Harrisburg, July 26.—(P)—The front of Pennsylvania's old brownstone executive mansion on the Susquehanna riverfront gets what breezes there are, but the heat in the "back rooms" is too much for Governor James. "We should have a place suitable for gatherings of people, and at the same time be a home," he commented, echoing the laments of many a predecessor. But he's going to "wait to see what kind of a legislature we'll have in 1941" before asking for a new official residence.

SEEKS TO HALT PROBE

Philadelphia, July 26.—(P)—Asking U. S. district court to halt an investigation of names appearing on Communist party nomination petitions, Carl Reeve, Communist state chairman, declared: "This campaign of investigation coupled with threats of purges, is resulting in terrorizing of citizens, reprisals, blackmailings and fear. It is also inducing people to falsely repudiate their signatures."

YEAR'S TRAINING SCHEDULE

If you find that "you're in the army now" a few months hence under the yet-to-be-enacted compulsory military training law, the War Department says your year of training will be something like this:

First two months—Introduction to army life and basic military instruction.

Next eight months—Specialist training, with the men expected to drop into branches of the service to which they are adapted or prefer; unit training, with emphasis on functions as a combat team.

Next month and a half—Training to develop the practical application of the previous instruction, with field exercises and maneuvers.

Last two weeks—"Deprocessing," which would include assignment to National Guard units, for instance, and preparations to return home.

HAD THAT CAR INSPECTED?

The Pennsylvania Motor Federation, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association, reminds motorists that they have only a week in which to get their cars inspected. The current official inspection period, which began May 1, ends at midnight next Wednesday.

Citing reports that indicate several hundred thousand motor vehicles have not been officially inspected during the past three months, Richard B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the Federation, predicts "an inevitable, last minute rush at the majority of official inspection stations."

"On and after next Thursday, every Pennsylvania-registered motor vehicle must display a red-and-white inspection sticker, issued during May, June, or July," Secretary-Manager Maxwell said. All stickers issued prior to May 1 are invalid, and the owner or driver of every motor vehicle operating without a sticker for the current period is subject to arrest and a fine of $10 and costs.

"In view of the inevitable, last-minute rush, motorists who have not had their cars inspected during this period should do so immediately. If they have been out of the state and return after the Wednesday, midnight, deadline, they should have the inspections made at the first official inspection station they pass after crossing the state line."

TRAVEL IN CANADA

Officials of Kiwanis clubs in the section are being contacted by the various Kiwanis organizations in Canada to bring out the actual truth about travel in the Dominion. Much false propaganda has been written or spoken that the Canadians want the situation cleared up for once and all.

Following are the rules that govern travel into Canada:

Passports are not required of American visitors to Canada, and United States citizens may, as heretofore, proceed to Canada without any specified documentation. For convenience in returning over the border, the United States tourist should carry some identifying documents to establish his identity and support any questions he may be asked. Such papers as, an old passport, birth or baptismal certificate, voter's certificate, tax receipt, club membership cards, proof of ownership of car, letter from bank manager or responsible municipal officer, driver's license, or similar papers would be helpful. Naturalized citizens should carry their naturalization certificates. Citizens of other countries should secure a re-entry permit from the United States Immigration Authorities before departing from the United States.

British Princesses Will Remain in Danger Zone

PRINCESS ELIZABETH, 14-year-old heiress presumptive to the British throne, and her sister, Princess Margaret Rose, 10, will not leave England, despite the threat of German invasion. Suggestions that the royal children be sent to safety in Canada or other dominions have been rejected by King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. The princesses are pictured on the 1939 Canadian stamp above, commemorating the visit of king and queen to Canada and United States.

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose have been evacuated to a secret residence in the country. There they continue their studies and their work in the Girl Guides. Elizabeth is second in command of her Girl Guide unit.

Harrisburg, July 26—(P)—The front of Pennsylvania's old brownstone executive mansion on an investigation on Communist party nomination petitions, Carl Reeve, Communist state chairman, declared: "This campaign of investigation coupled with threats of purges, is resulting in terrorizing of citizens, reprisals, blackmailings and fear. It is also inducing people to falsely repudiate their signatures."

WORK OF SHRINE CLUB IN COUNTY IS DESCRIBED

Sheffield, July 25—A talk by Floyd L. Rice of Warren, explaining the work being carried on by the Warren County Shrine Club in the interest of crippled children was a feature of this week's meeting of the Sheffield Rotary Club, held Tuesday noon in Cederlof Hall.

The Shrine Club of which Mr. Rice is a member, conducts this humanitarian work through the Zion Zep Crippled Children's Hospital, Erie, by contributing funds to the institution.

With a view to promoting funds for this purpose, the Shrine Club is sponsoring the appearance in Warren, on Aug. 5, of the Clyde Beatty Circus, Mr. Rice announced. All proceeds realized from the event will be given to the hospital.

The speaker was introduced by C. H. Whittaker, president of the Rotary Club who also is a member of the Shrine Club and a member of one of its committees in charge of the benefit appearance of the circus.

NEW INDUSTRY

Unconfirmed reports are circulating about town that Sheffield is to obtain a new industry this summer. According to the rumors, the reported new industry is a paper container manufacturing factory specializing in the manufacture of cardboard boxes. The factory will be situated on a part of the site of the Instantan tannery, now in the process of being dismantled, in one of the former tannery buildings, it is said.

Duplicate—Neither valid

South West North East
1 Pass 3 Pass
4 Pass 5 Pass
Opening—♥ 4 ♠ 26

A tournament of the utmost importance to southern players will be held on Aug. 23-25 at Asheville, N. C. Many New York stars are planning to attend it, in order to become better acquainted with the players of the south, and I know that the northerners will have some especially fine competition.

I recall watching today's hand played on my last visit to Asheville. In duplicate bridge, it is of course important to get every possible trick. If your contract is four-odd and you make it, you will not get a good score if every-else makes five odd. If you make five-odd and the others make only four-odd, you are due for a "top" on the board, as this declarer was.

The opening lead was won by South with the heart ace and the ace and king of spades cashed, which established East's queen. On the second spade West discarded the deuce of hearts. If the opening lead of the four was fourth-best, the deuce showed that West originally held five hearts, and East could have had but two. At this point declarer had a club to dummy's ace, returned a small diamond and finessed the ten-spot. West won with the jack and played the queen of hearts. North won, the king of clubs and ace of diamonds were cashed, a small diamond led to the king and dummy's club ruffed.

Now both the North and South hands had been stripped of diamonds and clubs. Declarer led a spade, put East in the lead, and either a diamond or club must be returned. The declarer had an opportunity to discard his losing heart from one hand and ruff in the other, making five-odd.

The next presidential term begins Jan. 20, 1941.

"God Bless America" ---
Written in 1918 and Stored
In Berlin's Tune-Full Mind

BY TOM WOLF
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
New York, July 26—"God Bless America" was written in 1918. The 32 bars which set America to music originally were composed for an American army musical ("Yip! Yip! Yaphank!") by an un-military looking sergeant named Irving Berlin. But they weren't heard until 1938.

Irving Berlin... "I'll tell you more about it in five years."

America's theme song, if not, as many believe, its new national anthem.

Here is the story as the composer revealed it to me:

"I was never completely satisfied with the words or melody as they stood in 1918," said Berlin. He sat at a large mahogany desk in his paneled office in the heart of present-day Tin Pan Alley—the Tin Pan Alley that Irving Berlin has done so much to create.

Salted away, not in any trunk, but in the back of Berlin's literally tune-full mind along with hundreds of other song fragments, "God Bless America" passed 20 half-forgotten years.

Then in September, 1938, Berlin went to London for the premiere of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," the tune-biography of Irving Berlin.

"It was during the Munich crisis," he recalls, "and everyone there, myself included, was pretty emotional. I wanted to write something that would say, 'Thanks, America.' I played around with that as a title, but it didn't quite work out."

When he returned to New York, still thinking along these lines, songbird Kate Smith asked him to write a song for her Armistice Day radio program.

He naturally thought back to the war, to "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!"—to "God Bless America."

"You see in the original version I had the line 'Make her victorious on land and foam!'"

Berlin strode across his office to the battered upright piano.

His fingers quickly picked out

the old melody. It ran way up the scale to a different high. Berlin sang in a half-spoken whisper. "You see," he smiled, wrinkling his forehead above his black, horn-rimmed glasses, "it wasn't right. And 'Make her victorious' wasn't appropriate in 1938. So..." His fingers rippled over the keys again, with the version Kate Smith introduced to America on Armistice Day, 1938.

The song sparked American imagination and patriotism immediately. But Berlin was wary. "I was grateful beyond words that it had the quality it seemed to have, but I wanted to make sure it kept that quality."

So the lyrics were copyrighted against use by commercial radio programs (except Kate Smith's whose theme song it became), by all swing arrangers, by all cabarets and night clubs.

All patriotic organizations are

Program cover for "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!" for which the 32 bars of "God Bless America" were originally written.

welcome to the song, and both Republican and Democratic conventions adopted it as their theme.

Berlin continued: "We thought it was so obviously an American song that the royalties should go to our youth organizations."

A committee was established and decided to give the profits to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

The fund has netted $45,000 on the 500,000 copies of sheet music sold to date. That looks like a drop in the eventual bucket.

Is "God Bless America" a new national anthem?

"I don't think that you can vote a national anthem," Irving Berlin said. "I know you don't sit down and write one. The people adopt a song or they don't. I think that 'God Bless America' is the most important song I've ever written. I'll tell you more about it in five years."

Bomb Scares
In Pittsburgh

(From Page One)

To forestall any sabotage, extra guards were recently placed on duty at large industrial plants here.

A second bomb scare last night sent police rushing to a newsstand on a busy downtown street corner.

An excited man had told them a "suspicious-looking package" was there.

While a crowd of passersby collected at a safe distance, a patrolman soaked the brown paper parcel in a bucket of water, then opened it—bringing forth a pair of white shoes.

Can You Think of a Better Way?

If you know a better way to beat the heat—go to it! If you don't, 18-month-old Judy Ham, of Decatur, Ga., thoroughly recommends this highly effective, if somewhat radical, method.

The combat plane has done more than any other one fighting arm in effecting the morale of the civilian population, as can be seen by the European practice of black-outs and the issuance of gas masks.

Various sections of the All-American highway, stretching from Argentina to Alaska, have been built, and many stretches of all-weather road are now available.

Ackley, Pennsylvania, farmer says wonderful relief came after Vendol relieved constipation. Advises everyone to try famous medicine.

MR. CHARLES J. BARNEY

Mr. Charles J. Barney, well known farmer of Ackley, near Warren, Pennsylvania, says, "I had suffered from constipation for years, and this condition forced me to eat light meals but even what I ate caused heartburn, gas, shortness of breath, fiery acid risings, and sour stomach, and sometimes made me so nervous that I couldn't rest well."

"Reading what Vendol was doing for other suffering people all around here, I gave it a trial, and it relieved my constipation so well that now I can eat anything, even fried foods, with no distress, nervousness, or heart-aches, and the dizzy spells and things of the past and I sleep like a healthy child. I feel so much better that I can't praise Vendol enough."

Vendol contains extracts of 12 Roots and Herbs mixed with valuable Alkalines, and due to this wonderful combination of ingredients, gives relief to many different symptoms all at the same time. Miserable people tell how they get such a cleansing and invigorating effect from Vendol, they soon feel like different men and women. If you have the same troubles, give Vendol a chance to help you.

A total of 419 deaths were attributed directly and indirectly to the protracted heat wave. They included 190 heat fatalities and 229 drownings.

Thundershowers helped bring relief to sections of the midwest last night but the rains were too light to be of much help to corn and other crops suffering from lack of moisture.

The mercury reached 116 degrees yesterday in Philadelphia, Kas., the highest official reading of the day. Billie Kas., sweltered in 112 degree heat and Good Land and Junction City, Kas., recorded 111 degree readings.

Chicago's 101.1 was its highest of the year and established a new mark for the date there. In Detroit similar records were made with a reading of 99.

Two bridges over the Chicago river could not immediately be closed after being lifted for a boat. The heat expanded the metal.

As for the past four days, scattered thundershowers brought temporary relief late Thursday to many communities but the mercury resumed its climb after the rain passed.

Heat was blamed for the deaths at Wilkes-Barre of 59-year-old Christopher Chicknosky, at Stroudsburg of Emmet C. Cramer, 52, and at Uniontown of Mike Dorich, 48, bringing the week's toll to 39. A similar number drowned seeking relief.

High humidity increased the discomfort and thousands flocked to parks and beaches.

Pittsburgh had its hottest day of the year with 95 degrees and it was 96 at Harrisburg, 97 at Altoona, and 91 at Philadelphia.

New season highs were reported at Lancaster with 100 degrees, Scranton, 91, Bloomsburg, 91, and Erie, 90.

A hailstorm at Allentown broke awnings and electric signs. Old residents said the hailstones were the largest in their memory.

"God Bless America" ---
Written in 1918 and Stored
In Berlin's Tune-Full Mind

BY TOM WOLF
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
New York, July 26—"God Bless America" was written in 1918! The 32 bars which set America to music originally were composed for an American army musical ("Yip! Yip! Yaphank!") by an un-military looking sergeant named Irving Berlin. But they weren't heard until 1938.

Irving Berlin... "I'll tell you more about it in five years."

America's theme song, if not, as many believe, its new national anthem.

Here is the story as the composer revealed it to me:
"I was never completely satisfied with the words or melody as they stood in 1918," said Berlin. He sat at a large mahogany desk in his paneled office in the heart of present-day Tin Pan Alley—the Tin Pan Alley that Irving Berlin has done so much to create.

Salted away, not in any 'runk, but in the back of Berlin's literally tune-full mind along with hundreds of other song fragments, "God Bless America" passed 20 half-forgotten years.

Then in September, 1938, Berlin went to London for the premiere of "Alexander's Ragtime Band," the tune-biography of Irving Berlin.

"It was during the Munich crisis," he recalls, and everyone there, myself included, was pretty emotional. I wanted to write something that would say, 'Thanks, America.' I played around with that as a title, but it didn't quite work out."

When he returned to New York, still thinking along these lines, songbird Kate Smith asked him to write a song for her Armistice Day radio program.

He naturally thought back to the war, to "Yip! Yip! Yaphank!"—to "God Bless America."

"You see in the original version I had the line 'Make her victorious on land and foam!'"

Berlin strode across his office to the battered upright piano.

His fingers quickly picked out

the old melody. It ran way up the scale to a different high. Berlin sang in a half-spoken whisper. "You see," he smiled, wrinkling his forehead above his black, horn-rimmed glasses, "it wasn't right. And 'Make her victorious' wasn't appropriate in 1938. So . . ." His fingers rippled over the keys again, with the version Kate Smith introduced to America on Armistice Day, 1938.

The song sparked American imagination and patriotism immediately. But Berlin was wary. "I was grateful beyond words that it had the quality it seemed to have, but I wanted to make sure it kept that quality."

So the lyrics were copyrighted against use by commercial radio programs (except Kate Smith's whose theme song it became), by all swing arrangers, by all cabarets and night clubs.

All patriotic organizations are

Program cover for "Yip! Yip! Yaphank," for which the 32 bars of "God Bless America" were originally written.

welcome to the song, and both Republican and Democratic conventions adopted it as their theme.

Berlin continued: "We thought it was so obviously an American song that the royalties should go to our youth organizations."

A committee was established and decided to give the profits to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. The fund has netted $45,000 on the 500,000 copies of sheet music sold to date. That looks like a drop in the eventual bucket.

Is "God Bless America" a new national anthem?

"I don't think that you can vote a national anthem," Irving Berlin said. "I know you don't sit down and write one. The people adopt a song or they don't. I think that 'God Bless America' is the most important song I've ever written. I'll tell you more about it in five years."

Bomb Scares
In Pittsburgh

To forestall any sabotage, extra guards were recently placed on duty at large industrial plants here. A second bomb scare last night sent police rushing to a newsstand on a busy downtown street corner. An excited man had told them a "suspicious-looking package" was there.

While a crowd of passersby collected at a safe distance, a patrolman soaked the brown paper parcel in a bucket of water, then opened it—bringing forth a pair of white shoes.

Can You Think of a Better Way?

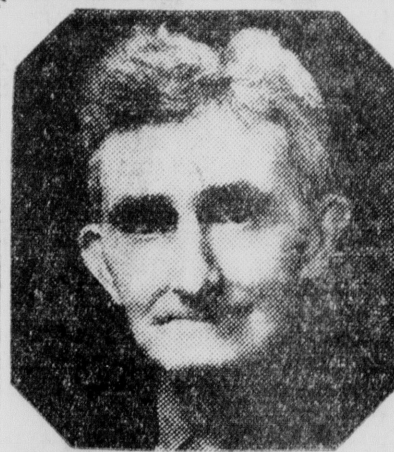

If you know a better way to beat the heat—go to it! If you don't, 16-month-old Judy Ham, of Decatur, Ga., thoroughly recommends this highly effective, if somewhat radical, method.

The combat plane has done more than any other one fighting arm in effecting the morale of the civilian population, as can be seen by the European practice of black-outs and the issuance of gas masks.

Various sections of the All-American highway, stretching from Argentina to Alaska, have been built, and many stretches of all-weather road are now available.

STOMACH SEEMED TO BE FULL OF HOT SOUR FERMENTATIONS

Ackley, Pennsylvania, farmer says wonderful relief came after Vendol relieved constipation. Advises everyone to try famous medicine.

MR. CHARLES J. BARNEY

Mr. Charles J. Barney, well known farmer of Ackley, near Warren, Pennsylvania, says, "I had suffered from constipation for years, and this condition forced me to eat light meals but even what I ate caused 'heartburn,' gas, shortness of breath, fiery acid risings, and sour stomach, and sometimes made me so nervous that I couldn't rest well."

Vendol contains extracts of 12 Roots and Herbs mixed with valuable Alkalines, and due to this wonderful combination of ingredients, gives relief to many different symptoms all at the same time. Miserable people tell how they get such a cleansing and invigorating effect from Vendol, they soon feel like different men and women. If you have the same troubles, give Vendol a chance to help you.

Vendol is sold by most all leading druggists, and is especially recommended here by Miller's Cut Rate Drug Store.

Moderate Temperature Sunday Forecast

A total of 419 deaths were attributed directly and indirectly to the protracted heat wave. They included 190 heat fatalities and 229 drownings.

Thundershowers helped bring relief to sections of the middlewest last night but the rains were too light to be of much help to corn and other crops suffering from lack of moisture.

The mercury reached 116 degrees yesterday in Phillipsburg, Kas., the highest official reading of the day. Ellie, Kas., sweltered in 112 degree heat and Good Land and Junction City, Kas., recorded 111 degree readings.

Chicago's 101.1 was its highest of the year and established a new mark for the date there. In Detroit similar records were made with a reading of 99.

Two bridges over the Chicago river could not immediately be closed after being lifted for a boat. The heat expanded the metal.

As for the past four days, scattered thundershowers brought temporary relief late Thursday to many communities but the mercury resumed its climb after the rain passed.

Heat was blamed for the deaths at Wilkes-Barre of 59-year-old Christopher Chicknosky, at Stroudsburg of Emmet C. Cramer, 52, and at Uniontown of Mike Dorich, 48, bringing the week's toll to 19. A similar number drowned seeking relief.

High humidity increased the discomfort and thousands flocked to parks and beaches.

Pittsburgh had its hottest day of the year with 95 degrees and it was 96 at Harrisburg, 97 at Altoona, and 91 at Philadelphia.

New season highs were reported at Lancaster with 100 degrees, Scranton, 91, Bloomsburg, 91, and Erie, 90.

A hailstorm at Allentown broke awnings and electric signs. Old residents said the hailstones were the largest in their memory.

Starring Bette Davis and Charles Boyer, "All This And Heaven Too", Warner Bros. screen version of the world-applauded novel by Rachel Field, will have its first local showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Library Theatre. In the supporting cast are Jeffrey Lynn, Barbara O'Neil, Virginia Weidler, Walter Hampden, Henry Daniell, George Coulouris and many more. Adapted for the screen by Casey Robinson, "All This And Heaven Too" is the bittersweet love story of a little French governess, seemingly destined for spinsterhood, who inspires the love of a great nobleman and thus becomes the storm center of a murder scandal that rocked Paris a century ago. Anatole Litvak directed the production.

Although people speak of seeing x-rays, no one ever has seen one, for they are invisible.

GRID CLINIC AT CONNEAUT LAKE AUGUST 15-17

Conneaut Lake, Pa., July 26.—(P)—A wide field of problems of high school coaches will get a thorough going-over here next month at the western Pennsylvania football coaching clinic, first of its kind in the state.

Scheduled for August 15-17, the "school" will have as its instructor Paul Brown, who guided Massillon High School to the Ohio football championship for five straight years and is regarded by some authorities as the peer of scholastic coaches in the north-east.

Frank Maguire of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania representative on the national rules committee, will conduct a rules interpretation meeting.

The clinic is the first product of the newly-organized Western Pennsylvania Football Coaches Association, which is headed by Jake Bohren of Wilkensburg.

Jack Tinson of McKeesport, member of the arrangements committee, said subjects for discussion include offensive and defensive systems, the five-man line, pass defense, schedules, finances, and lighting.

The association will also have on hand a "big name" collegiate coach, Tinson said.

Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the P. I. A. A., has spoken enthusiastically of the association's program and expressed the hope that scholastic coaches in eastern Pennsylvania would organize similarly.

12-YEAR-OLD LEADS IN TROUT CONTEST

It was announced today that a 12-year-old angler has the lead in Don Finley's trout contest which closes at the end of the season next week.

Everett Burke, of North Warren, took a 22 and 3/4 inch brownie, weighing four pounds, out of the Brokenstraw and to date that is the largest fish entered.

Other large catches are by: Frank Conklin, 20 1/2 inch brown, weighing 3 pounds and five ounces; John K. Wilson, 18-inch rainbow, two pounds and four ounces; Jack Neal, 22-inch brown, three pounds and 12 ounces.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press
Truett Sewell, Pirates—Kept nine hits scattered and knocked in winning run with play against Giants.

Joe Gordon, Yankees—Hit two home runs to pace 16-hit assault on Browns.

Archie McKain, Tigers—Saved victory over Senators with three-inning one-hit relief pitching.

Sam Chapman, Athletics—Hit homer in first inning to give Philadelphia lead it kept over Indians.

Two walks and an error that loaded the bases in the ninth.

The game at Boston was climaxed by a triple play, the second in the big leagues in two weeks but the first of the year in the National League.

The Bees maneuvered it in the eighth inning, but the game already was gone.

While it is generally agreed that the Brooklyn Dodgers will have to revert to their old cry of "Wait 'til next year," Pilot Lipky Leo Durocher should get plenty of credit for keeping the Flatbush boys in the running as long as he did. We say it is due the boss because it has been that old hustle and nothing else that shoved the Dodgers up where they were. Here is a team sixth in batting, fourth in fielding and depending upon the knuckle ball of a very ancient twirler for most of their important games, that is in second place, topped only by a very torrid Cincinnati team which is favored not only to win the pennant, but the world championship. Looking back and second-guessing a bit, the partial collapse of the Dodgers was inevitable. "They can't beat us" will work for a while, but it is usually advisable to have a pitching staff and some pretty fair sluggers with which to back it up.

In comparison with the grim determination of the Gowanous toughies we might mention the lack of spirit of the Yankees, who have pulled apart at the seams. Here is a star-spangled club that nearly everyone picked to repeat in the American League, and which has been slapped around by the tail-end clubs with abandon. Wednesday night the Yanks got off to an 8-3 lead down in St. Louis by the end of the third inning, and a half dozen pitchers couldn't hold the margin. Anyone who has seen the champions in action this season will quickly point out that while the Dodgers hustled for everything, the Yanks have played drab, listless ball at field, evidently depending on a lineup of sluggers that just can't come through. It is true that Ruth, Donald and Russo are handicapped by sore arms and that Gomez is hors de combat with an injury, but there have been plenty of games that could have been won with Pony League pitching if the Yanks had gone out after them defensively.

And while other clubs flounder about, Bill McKechnie's National League champions are in possession of as good a record for 80 games as has been recorded in that circuit in the last 25 years. The Reds started their 16-game eastern tour, marked by five double-headers, owning 55 victories and 25 defeats. One must go clear back to 1919 to find another team which won 55 of its first 80 games. The Giants did it that year, but didn't win the pennant. Until yesterday, the Rhinelanders had added three more victories to the blue side of the ledger and apparently are well on their way. They now have a chance to become the fourteenth team in the history of the National League to win 100 or more games. If they repeat their first half pace, the Reds will be the first team since the 1910 Cubs to win as many as 104 games.

You said it!... Jimmy Hitchcock, Warren's son-in-law, is holding down the regular shortstop berth for Columbus and hitting the ball on the nose. James may change his mind about giving up the diamond and devoting all of his time to the study of football. Wonder if Ken Overlin won't take a little higher education after the college boy he sneered at beat his ears back Wednesday night. Warren is packed with Billy Soose fans and not all of them Penn State grads. His medicine has ordered Eddie Omslow, manager of the Bradford Bees, to take a rest for ten days. Vic George of the Evansville Three-I League Bees will take over during Omslow's absence. Johnny Nelson, Jr., of the Bradford Era, is tearing his hair over the official standings of the Pony wheel, which doesn't resemble his or the Olean scribe's version. "String" Nash, of Erie, fired 159 in the National Publix, ten strokes more than the high qualifier. Willis Eby, who once stood opposing batters on their heads, returned to the mound Wednesday night at the American Legion picnic. His comeback was with the underhanded delivery on the softball diamond, however.

Sports Round-up

BY EDDIE BRIEZ
New York, July 26.—(P)—Baseball banter: Tom Hag town honestly hasn't got a pennant contender, yet look what's happening. 75,000 more fans have seen the declining Dodgers in their home games so far than saw 'em last year. For 40 home stands the Jints are 35,000 patrons better off. And the Yanks have drawn over a half million (about the same as last year) which tops every other club in the A. L. for home attendance. Ed Head, the 20-year-old Elmira hurler the Dodgers just bought whiffed 220 batsmen for Abbeville, La., last year, his first in pro ball, and this year has miffed 116 Elmira enemies. Another feller?

Today's Guest Star
Charles Burton, Dallas Morning News: "The most genuinely popular gent in Texas League circles is Jack Zeller, the Detroit Tiger official, who paid Oklahoma City $10,000 for Pitcher Charley Fuchs and gave the Dallas Rebels approximately the same amount for Pitcher Bob Uhle. Looks as if he's keeping the league going."

La. Marble, who hasn't been beaten since Wimbledon in 1937, looks good enough to carry that tennis record through September and another national tournament.

George and Bill Zahn, who used to stage brother-beat-brother duels when the former was coaching at Dartmouth and the latter at Princeton, are feudin' again—over a Philly golf course. There are six Phils good enough to win the Hambletonian. Auburn's 1940 football team will travel 6,853 miles in playing 10 of its 11 games away from home.

SARAH PALFREY AND LA MARBLE IN SEMI-FINAL

Seabright, N. J., July 26.—(P)—Pretty Sarah Palfrey expects to learn a lot today about the results of a tennis experiment she started when she went west nearly a year ago.

Miss Palfrey is going to find out the hard way by playing International Champion Alice Marble in a semi-final match in Seabright's annual invitation tournament.

The duel will be the first test on grass courts for Miss Palfrey's completely remodeled stroking. Semi-finals in the men's competition also were scheduled today, with Bobby Riggs, the national champion, meeting Gilbert A. Hunt, Jr., Washington, D. C. and Elwood T. Cooke, Portland, Ore., blocking the path of Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Calif.

Kovacs, after a ragged beginning, played brilliantly yesterday in defeating Defending Champion Frankie Parker, Pasadena, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4. Riggs and Hunt each took three sets to eliminate Henry Prussoff, Seattle, and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., New York, respectively.

Cooke advanced by besting Gaudin Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.

ALL-OHIO WORLD SERIES IS SEEN AS POSSIBILITY

Cincinnati, July 26.—(P)—They used to hold subway series back in the great days of the New York Giants and Yankees; there's a city series in Chicago every year; now what's the matter with an All-Ohio World Series in October?

This idea was broadcast first around 1937 when some pre-season expert thought the Cincinnati Reds were sure-shots in the National League and that the Cleveland Indians had possibilities in the American League.

But the toms-toms really are beating this year. Remember, they are talking about it. About Bobby Feller and his smoke ball against Paul Derringer and his control. Bill McKechnie matching wits with O' Oscar Vitt. About a series between a couple of 20-year wonder teams.

The bus lines, the filling station operators along the Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati highway, and the governor's state publicity commission are for it.

The only hitch immediately apparent to slightly prejudiced observers is the Indians' addiction to the mid-season drive, which hasn't materialized yet this year. They are a game and a half behind Detroit now.

General Manager Warren C. Giles, soaking up last night's cool dew on his lawn while his Reds rested on an eight-gem lead in the east, put the proposition bluntly:

"It's up to Cleveland now. The Reds would have to beat them, since we have no one else left in the league to do it."

Such a series would be a financial success. The Cleveland stadium seats 78,189. The Reds' park handles about half that, which is Giles' only complaint.

"With everybody in the state doing a split between Cleveland and Cincinnati," he said, "there'd be just that many more we'd have to turn away."

ASHVILLE AT STATE HOSPITAL TOMORROW
Manager Joe Gardner today announced that Asheville, N. Y., will be the opponent for his State Hospital team tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the institution diamond.

The National Forge was originally scheduled to play the hospital team but canceled and another date was set—August 31.

The State Hospital has been beaten but once on their home grounds, Jamestown doing the trick in 11 innings.

PUNXY DROPPED BY BRACKENRIDGE, 11-1
Vandergrift, Pa., July 26.—(P)—The Brackenridge sluggers again knocked a team out of the state semi-pro baseball tournament last night, defeating Punxsutawney 11-1. The Jefferson county entry was previously beaten by Natrona. Brackenridge scored 20 runs in eliminating its first victim, Cecil.

Handicapped Golfer Proves Man to Beat In Publix Tourney

Detroit, July 26.—(P)—A 138-pound metal polisher who overcame the handicap of a left arm he cannot hold straight was tagged today as the man to beat in the National Public Links golf championships.

He is 22-year-old Edward J. Furgol, of Utica, N. Y. Although he has been golfing only four years he has led the way through some Paul, Munn, the New Yorker has toured 99 holes over the long Rockham municipal course in four-under-par.

He has eliminated four opponents including Worth Stimus, Jr., the Colorado Springs, Colo., collegian, who was co-medianist with him, and never has been behind except on the mist hole with his quarter-final opponent, Labron Harris, Guthrie, Okla.

In his last match, Furgol, despite a backswing that goes no more than three feet as a result of an arm injury in an automobile accident, held his own to nine holes. Then in the stretch, he turned on the heat, winning four of the next six holes, two with birdies to end the match on the fifteenth green.

Today he plays Clark, a 31-year-old hardware salesman who calls himself a "weekend golfer," and who has turned out to be the tournament dark horse.

An ex-caddy, Clark climaxed a day of sensational play by winning a 1-up quarter-final match with Louis Jennings, Portland, Ore., after being forced to go an extra hole to defeat 18-year-old Charles Lind, of Denver, Colo.

Dolce, a 21-year-old efficiency clerk for a rubber concern, also had to go 37 holes in advancing past Edward M. Hauper, University of Idaho freshman, 1 up, in 20 holes, and Michael Stefanchik, 26-year-old Gary, Ind., pipette, 2 up.

He overcame a two-up lead Harper had at the end of nine holes and won the extra hole with a spectacular recovery shot from the rough to within six inches of the pin.

His semi-final opponent, Michael Dietz, 23-year-old automotive factory worker, blew hot and cold in ousting Donald Shock, Dayton, O., 6 and 5, and Jack LaRose, a fellow townsman, 3 and 2.

ALL ABOARD! —BUT EAT FIRST
Toledo.—(P)—One reason why teams out of certain American association baseball cities which once left around 5 o'clock now depart an hour or more later.

The association's rule on traveling expenses for ball players leaving their home town provides that the team must pay for the athlete's dinner whenever he's aboard a train departing before 6 o'clock in the evening. If the train leaves after that time the player must pay his own check.

A railroad man says quite a few schedules were revised to accommodate baseball club owners.

PARDON ME, SIR, YOU HAVE MY SEAT
Orange, N. J.—(P)—Talk about tight squeezes:

Tony Galento (244-pounds ring side) and his co-manager, Harry Mendel, 200 flat, were looking for quick transportation out of Lake Conneaut, Pa., where Tony had refereed a fight.

They missed a regular plane by a few minutes and decided to hire the only plane they could locate—a two-seater, one of which was occupied by the pilot. So, without sitting on either's lap, side neither have laps, Galento and Mendel squeezed into the open cockpit and rode 80 miles to an airport, where they caught a transport to New York.

MOVING HIS FEET IS BIG JOB FOR OFFICER RIGGS
By NEA Service
Camp Custer, Mich., July 26.—Radio saved the day for Tommy Riggs, Illinois tackle and football captain-elect, who is an army reserve officer. Riggs was issued the biggest pair of shoes the supply division had—a size 13-B, but they pinched. An appeal to Chicago brought his correct size—14-B.

IT WASN'T THE CURE
New York, July 26.—Suspended Pitcher Luke Hamlin after he lost a game in mid-June obviously was not the cure. The tight-hander didn't win for Brooklyn again until mid-July.

Negroes got to vote in the Bahamas in 1830, eight years before abolition of slavery there.

Disney's famous full-length color film, "Snow White," has made more money than any other production in movie history.

Coaches Say It Is Not Too Early for Footballers To Get Down to Best Weight, and Their Light, Sensible Training Program Won't Hurt Anybody

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

EVEN grandstand quarterbacks can get something out of training instructions designed by football coaches to assure players an early start toward a successful season and to lessen the risk of injuries.

"Don't be foolish enough to believe you can get into condition after practice starts," George S. Halas writes the professional Chicago Bears. "If you fail to report in shape, you not only handicap yourself in your efforts to make the team, but you seriously retard the progress of the squad as a whole. The well-conditioned player is seldom injured. Fatigue, the result of poor condition, is responsible for most football injuries."

Coaches agree that baseball, or a combination of golf and tennis, or golf and handball are the ideal football conditioners.

All suggest the out-of-doors and sunshine, but do not recommend swimming, which develops an entirely different set of muscles. "A coat of tan is important," Dutch Clark tells the Cleveland Rams, "indicates a player has soaked up plenty of ultra-violet ray, which increases resistance against colds, toughens the skin and rejuvenates the body."

Sore feet and sunburn, caused by players failing to expose themselves gradually and sensibly to the sun before practice starts, are troublesome training problems.

Sound feet and nine hours sleep daily at regular intervals are the most important conditioning items. It goes without saying that bad habits must be avoided.

The men are urged to concentrate on ankle, knee and foot calisthenics.

Dancing is all right, but think of the hours. Hiking and running, particularly sprinting, are better.

PLAYERS are advised to work out barefooted, if necessary, but in football shoes whenever possible. They are warned against wearing heavy woolen socks next to the skin during hot weather. Light cotton socks are better. They should be changed and washed after each workout. The feet should be washed and dried carefully.

The importance of working out with a football is stressed. Drill masters want the athlete to get used to the feel of it. Deception depends on deft handling of the ball. Coaches say it is not too early for footballers to get down to their normal playing weight. And light, sensible training never hurt anybody.

Scheduled for August 15-17, the "school" will have as its instructor Paul Brown, who guided Massillon High School to the Ohio football championship for five straight years and is regarded by some authorities as the peer of scholastic coaches in the north-east.

Frank Maguire of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania representative on the national rules committee, will conduct a rules interpretation meeting.

The clinic is the first product of the newly-organized Western Pennsylvania Football Coaches Association, which is headed by Jack Tinson of McKeesport, member of the arrangements committee, said subjects for discussion include offensive and defensive systems, the five-man line, pass defense, schedules, finances, and lighting.

The association will also have on hand a "big name" collegiate coach, Tinson said.

Edmund Wicht, executive secretary of the P. I. A. A., has spoken enthusiastically of the association's program and expressed the hope that scholastic coaches in eastern Pennsylvania would organize similarly.

12-YEAR-OLD LEADS IN TROUT CONTEST

It was announced today that a 12-year-old angler has the lead in Don Finley's trout contest which closes at the end of the season next week.

Everett Burke, of North Warren, took a 22 and 3/4 inch brownie, weighing four pounds, out of the Brokenstraw and to date that is the largest fish entered.

Other large catches are by: Frank Conklin, 20 1/2 inch brown, weighing 3 pounds and five ounces; John K. Wilson, 18-inch rainbow, two pounds and four ounces; Jack Neal, 22-inch brown, three pounds and 12 ounces.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Truett Sewell, Pirates—Kept nine hits scattered and knocked in winning run with play against Giants.

Joe Gordon, Yankees—Hit two home runs to pace 16-hit assault on Browns.

Archie McKain, Tigers—Saved victory over Senators with three-inning one-hit relief pitching.

Sam Chapman, Athletics—Hit homer in first inning to give Philadelphia lead it kept over Indians.

Two walks and an error that loaded the bases in the ninth.

The game at Boston was climaxed by a triple play, the second in the big leagues in two weeks but the first of the year in the National League. The Bees maneuvered it in the eighth inning, but the game already was gone.

While it is generally agreed that the Brooklyn Dodgers will have to revert to their old cry of "Wait 'til next year!", Pilot Lippy Leo Durocher should get plenty of credit for keeping the Flatbush boys in the running as long as he did. We say it is due the boss because it has been that old hustle and nothing else that shoved the Dodgers up where they were. Here is a team sixth in batting, fourth in fielding and depending upon the knuckle ball of a very ancient twirler for most of their important games, that is in second place, topped only by a very torrid Cincinnati team which is favored not only to win the pennant, but the world championship. Looking back and second-guessing a bit, the partial collapse of the Dodgers was inevitable. "They can't beat us" will work for a while, but it is usually advisable to have a pitching staff and some pretty fair sluggings with which to back it up.

In comparison with the grim determination of the Gowanous toughies we might mention the lack of spirit of the Yankees, who have pulled apart at the seams. Here is a star-spangled club that nearly everyone picked to repeat in the American League, and which has been slapped around by the tail-end clubs with abandon. Wednesday night the Yanks got off to an 8-3 lead down in St. Louis by the end of the third inning, and a half dozen pitchers couldn't hold the margin. Anyone who has seen the champions in action this season will quickly point out that, while the Dodgers hustled for everything, the Yanks have played drab, listless ball, evidently depending on a lineup of sluggers that just can't come through. It is true that Ruffing, Donald and Russo are handicapped by sore arms and that Gomez is hors de combat with an injury, but there have been plenty of games that could have been won with Pony League pitching if the Yanks had gone out after them defensively.

And while other clubs flounder about, Bill McKeechie's National League champions are in possession of as good a record for 80 games as has been recorded in that circuit in the last 25 years. The Reds started their 16-game eastern tour, marked by five double-headers, owning 55 victories and 25 defeats. One must go clear back to 1919 to find another team which won 55 of its first 80 games. The Giants did it that year, but didn't win the pennant. Until yesterday, the Rhinelanders had added three more victories to the blue side of the ledger and apparently are well on their way. They now have a chance to become the fourteenth team in the history of the National League to win 100 or more games. If they repeat their first half pace, the Reds will be the first team since the 1910 Cubs to win as many as 104 games.

You said it!... Jimmy Hitchcock, Warren's son-in-law, is holding down the regular shortstop berth for Columbus and hitting the ball on the nose. James may change his mind about giving up the diamond and devoting all of his time to the study of football. Wonder if Ken Overlin won't take a little higher education after the college boy he sneered at beat his ears back Wednesday night. Warren is packed with Billy Soose fans and not all of them Penn State grads. His medico has ordered Eddie Onslow, manager of the Bradford Bees, to take a rest for ten days. Vic George of the Evansville Three-I League Bees will take over during Onslow's absence. Johnny Nelson, Jr., of the Bradford Bees, is tearing his hair over the official standings of the Pony wheel, which doesn't resemble his or the Olean scribe's version. "String" Nash, of Erie, fired 159 in the National Publix, more than the high qualifier. Willis Eby, who once stood opposing batters on their heads, returned to the mound Wednesday night at the American Legion picnic. His comeback was with the underhanded delivery on the softball diamond, however.

ALL-OHIO WORLD SERIES IS SEEN AS POSSIBILITY

Cincinnati, July 26—(P)—They used to hold subway series back in the great days of the New York Giants and Yankees; there's a city series in Chicago every year; now what's the matter with an all-Ohio World Series in October?

This idea was broadcast first around 1937 when some pre-season expert thought the Cincinnati Reds were sure-shots in the National League and that the Cleveland Indians had possibilities in the American League. The Reds came in last, 6-3, 6-4. Riggs and Hunt each took three sets to eliminate Henry Prussoff, Seattle, and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., New York, respectively.

Cooke advanced by beating Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.

New York, July 26—(P)—Baseball banter: The big town honestly hasn't got a pennant contender, yet look what's happening. 75,000 more fans have seen the declining Dodgers in their home games so far than saw 'em last year. For 40 home stands the Jints are 35,000 patrons better off. . . . and the Yanks have drawn over a half million (about the same as last year) which tops every other club in the A. SARAH PALFREY AND LA MARBLE IN SEMI-FINAL

Seabright, N. J., July 26—(P)—Pretty Sarah Palfrey expects to learn a lot today about the results of a tennis experiment she started when she went west nearly a year ago.

Miss Palfrey is going to find out the hard way by playing International Champion Alice Marble in a semi-final match in Seabright's annual invitation tournament.

The duel will be the first test on grass courts for Miss Palfrey's completely remodeled stroking.

Semi-finals in the men's competition also were scheduled today, with Bobby Riggs, the national champion, meeting Gilbert A. Hunt, Jr., Washington, D. C. and Elwood T. Cooke, Portland, Ore., blocking the path of Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Calif.

Kovacs, after a ragged beginning, played brilliantly yesterday in defeating Defending Champion Frankie Parker, Pasadena, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4. Riggs and Hunt each took three sets to eliminate Henry Prussoff, Seattle, and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., New York, respectively.

Cooke advanced by beating Gardner Mulloy, Coral Gables, Fla.

Handicapped Golfer Proves Man to Beat In Publix Tourney

Detroit, July 26—(P)—A 138-pound metal polisher who overcame the handicap of a left arm cannot hold straight was tagged today as the man to beat in the National Public Links golf championships.

He is 22-year-old Edward J. Furgol, of Utica, N. Y. Although he has been golfing only four years he has led the way through some

Paul, Minn., the New Yorker has toured 99 holes over the long Rackham municipal course in four-under-par.

He has eliminated four opponents including Worth Stimits, Jr., the Colorado Springs, Colo., collegian, who was co-medalist with him, and never has been behind except on the first hole with his quarter-final opponent, Labron Harris, Guthrie, Okla.

In his last match, Furgol, despite a backswing that goes no more than three feet as a result of an arm injury in an automobile accident, held his own for nine holes. Then in the stretch he turned on the heat, winning four of the next six holes, two with birdies, to end the match on the fifteenth green.

Today he plays Clark, a 31-year-old hardware salesman who calls himself a "weekend golfer," and who has turned out to be the tournament dark horse.

An ex-caddy, Clark climaxed a day of sensational play by winning a 1-up quarter-final match with Louis Jennings, Portland, Ore., after being forced to go an extra hole to defeat 18-year-old Charles Lind, of Denver, Colo.

Dolce, a 24-year-old efficiency clerk for a rubber concern, also had to go 37 holes in advancing past Edward M. Harper, University of Idaho freshman, 1 up, in 20 holes, and Michael Stefanchik, 26-year-old Gary, Ind., pipetteur, 2 up.

He overcame a two-up lead Harper had at the end of nine holes and won the extra hole with a spectacular recovery shot from the rough to within six inches of the pin.

His semi-final opponent, Michael Dietz, 23-year-old automotive factory worker, blew hot and cold in victory, ousting Donald Shock, Dayton, O., 6 and 5, and Jack LaRose, a fellow townsman, 3 and 2.

ALL ABOARD!—BUT EAT FIRST

Toledo—(P)—One reason why trains out of certain American association baseball cities which once left around 5 o'clock now depart an hour or more later:

The association's rule on traveling expenses for ball players leaving their home town provides that the team must pay for the athlete's dinner whenever he's aboard a train departing before 6 o'clock in the evening. If the train leaves after that time the player must pay his own check.

PARDON ME, SIR, YOU HAVE MY SEAT

Orange, N. J.—(P)—Talk about tight squeezes:

Tony Galento (244-pounds ring side) and his co-manager, Harry Mendel, 200 flat, were looking for quick transportation out of Lake Conneaut, Pa., where Tony had refereed a fight.

They missed a regular plane by a few minutes and decided to hire the only plane they could locate—a two-seater, one of which was occupied by the pilot. So, without sitting on either's lap, since neither have laps, Galento and Mendel squeezed into the open cockpit and rode 80 miles to an airport, where they caught a transport to New York.

Camp Custer, Mich., July 26—Radio saved the day for Tommy Riggs, Illinois tackle and football captain-elect, who is an army reserve officer. Riggs was issued the biggest pair of shoes the supply division had—a size 13-B, but they pinched. An appeal to Chicago brought his correct size—14-B.

Coaches Say It Is Not Too Early for Footballers To Get Down to Best Weight, and Their Light, Sensible Training Program Won't Hurt Anybody

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

EVEN grandstand quarterbacks can get something out of training instructions designed by football coaches to assure players an early start toward a successful season and to lessen the risk of injuries.

"Don't be foolish enough to believe you can get into condition after practice starts," George S. Halas writes the professional Chicago Bears. "If you fail to report in shape, you not only handicap yourself in your efforts to make the team, but you seriously retard the progress of the squad as a whole. The well-conditioned player is seldom injured. Fatigue, the result of poor condition, is responsible for most football injuries."

Coaches agree that baseball, or a combination of golf and tennis, or golf and handball are the ideal football conditioners.

ALL suggest the out-of-doors and sunshine, but do not recommend swimming, which develops an entirely different set of muscles. "A good coat of tan is important," Dutch Clark tells the Cleveland Rams, "increases resistance against colds, toughens the skin and rejuvenates the body."

Sore feet and sunburn, caused by players failing to expose themselves gradually and sensible to the sun before practice starts, are troublesome training problems.

Sound feet and nine hours sleep daily at regular intervals are the most important conditioning items. It goes without saying that bad habits must be avoided.

The men are urged to concentrate on ankle, knee and foot calisthenics.

Dancing is all right, but think of the hours. Hiking and running, particularly sprinting, are better.

PLAYERS are advised to work out barefooted, if necessary, but in football shoes whenever possible. They are warned against wearing heavy woolen socks next to the skin during hot weather. Light cotton socks are better. They should be changed and washed after each workout. The feet should be washed and dried carefully.

The importance of working out with a football is stressed. Drill masters want the athlete to get used to the feel of it. Deception depends on deft handling of the ball.

Coaches say it is not too early for footballers to get down to their normal playing weight.

And light, sensible training never hurt anybody.

Casual Slaughters

By VIRGINIA HANSON

YESTERDAY, Julia indignantly insists that Jeff would never harm Sandra. The morning after the party Kay finds Sandra murdered. Jeff is put under arrest.

Chapter 31 Evil Spirit

JULIA parked in front of her house, got out and took my overnight case from the open rumble seat. "It wasn't Jeff," she said stubbornly, and led the way up the walk.

Mimi, looking pale and frightened, met us at the door. "Thank Heaven you're here, Kay," she said fervently. "I wouldn't have had an easy moment with you alone over there. Something is terribly wrong on this post. I don't know what it is, but I feel something like an evil spirit roaming about a house—something that doesn't belong here. An evil invasion."

Julia was staring at her. "Do you by any chance think these murders are supernatural?" "Of course not, Julia. Don't be silly. What I mean is that we're all quiet, peace-loving people. We army people—" "Contradiction in terms, old dear. But go on, I know what you mean."

"I haven't been part of it very long myself, I know," Mimi went on with dignity. "But it was one of the first things I noticed when I married your father. It's like in these religious communities. The army lives to itself, too, has its own community of interest and little reason for contact with the outside world. We have our own inside quarrels, but aside from that we live together in comparative peace and harmony. This is like something that has kept in, I understand, what I mean, don't you, Kay?"

"Yes, I understand." "I understood something else, too: that Sandra's death was particularly frightening because it had struck almost within the charmed circle. And because, say what she would, suspicion logically pointed to the few members of the garrison who had known Sandra well. What had the chaplain said? 'Murder is an intimate thing.'"

I remembered, with a little chill, the way opinion had turned against me, the outsider, when murder had struck at Fort Havens. They banded together, these army people. They stood back to back when there was trouble; and it was too bad for the stranger within their gates. After they had taken me to the guest room—the room Sandra had occupied until her marriage—and left me to make myself at home, I reviewed the strangers, realizing that, except for myself, there were only two—Gerald and Felicia. Could either of them be the creeping evil that Mimi had so chillingly suggested?

Gerald, when he had found himself in sole charge of a faint female, had carried me into Felicia's room and brought me to with the good old-fashioned remedy of plenty of cold water, externally applied. I had recovered enough to tell him the trouble when an orderly, looking scared, put in an appearance. Gerald sent him for Felicia, who was somewhere in the kitchen regions in the opposite wing of the building.

They had looked after me, Felicia and Gerald; Gerald himself attending to the unpleasant business of making sure that Sandra was past help, then sending for the doctor and the commanding officer. I have said that it was late when I rose. The officers who lived in the building had gone to duty. There were only the three of us, the three outsiders, left with murder.

Felicia, when she heard the news, had looked as ghostly as I felt. Her face, however, was difficult to fake. Looking back on it now, I felt sure she had been unutterably shocked. But Gerald?

Gerald was no longer the posturing idiot. His eyes were cold and wary, his manner business-like. The clowning was a mask that he took off, and without it he seemed hard and ruthless. I was suddenly afraid of him.

"Like A Wax Model" HE was in my room what seemed a long time before he went to telephone, but he came back to Felicia and me to wait for the doctor and Colonel Pennant. "Odd that you heard nothing in the night," he said in the clipped, dispassionate accent that belonged to the strange, new manner. His eyes, revealing nothing, regarded me.

"But I did," I told him, surprised. "There was someone moving about in my sitting room. I thought it was Sandra." "At what time?" "I don't know. I had been asleep, I don't know how long. And I went to sleep again. I didn't think to look at my watch." He stood up abruptly. There were voices in the corridor. "Wait here—I'll be back."

After he had joined those men in the hall, Felicia opened the door a crack and applied herself frankly to peeping and eavesdropping. "Jeff's here," she whispered once. "He looks like a wax model of himself. . . . They've got the post photographer taking pictures." And later, "They're taking her away. Oh, the poor kid! I heard Doc Jones say she's been dead at least eight hours."

Colonel Pennant came in, looking pretty grim, announced that Mimi would call me up and, with a glance at Felicia, that he would question me later, at his quarters. "I did not see Jeff, and I was glad."

After they had all departed Gerald came back and asked me if I felt well enough to go to my room. I got up shakily and followed him. I thought Felicia would have liked to come, too, but something in Gerald's manner must have discouraged her, for she remained where she was. "There was an armed enlisted man in front of my door."

"Miss Cornish has to get some of her things," Gerald told him. Colonel Pennant said it would be all right. "I looked at him suspiciously. Colonel Pennant had said no such thing. But the enlisted man stepped aside and let us go in."

"Now," said Gerald, "I want you to look the place over carefully and tell me if there's anything missing. Anything at all—no matter how small."

"I must have spent at least half an hour examining that room, going through the drawer of my worktable, looking through a stack of manuscripts and correspondence; but I couldn't see that there was anything gone, or even out of place, and I told him so."

"How about Sandra? Did she have anything in here?" "No. She never brought her things here—except a stenographer's notebook once, to take some dictation from me."

"Where is it?" "I suppose she took it away with her."

"I don't know just when I began to resent his questions, or to want to get out of that room where I was closed up with him. There was the memory of that dreadful form in front of the door. There was fear in the room and Gerald was a stranger."

"I must stress and pack a few things," I said, trying not to let him see that his company was beginning to frighten me. "If you'll wait outside?"

"I'll wait here in the sitting room," he said, and I had to be content with that.

Gerald? I lay on the bed in the Pennant's guest room and remembered the shivering fear I had felt shut in with him in that room where murder had been done. And I wondered if he was the evil invader—the creeping intruder who, if Mimi was right, had brought murder to Fort Michigan.

But what of Mimi herself? Mimi, who took long, solitary drives at night. Mimi, whose car had returned to the barge an hour before Ivan's body was found there; Mimi, whose past, to me at least, was shrouded in mystery. And what, if you came to that, of Julia, who had said only last night of Sandra: "I could kill her."

My head began to ache. I closed my eyes and slept uneasily, harried by confused, racing dreams, until lunch.

Colonel Pennant telephoned that he was too busy to come home. I heard Julia taking the message as I came downstairs. Then she asked him if he could see Jeff. He must have said yes, for as soon as we rose from a scarcely tasted lunch she proposed that I go with her to the hospital. To the prison ward.

Mimi had been summoned to the kitchen by the cook. We were alone for a moment.

"Dan said he'd leave word for us to be admitted," Julia went on, "but he insisted someone had to go with me. I'd rather it was you than Mimi. And Dan said to tell you he'll be home at four, and he'd like to question you then."

I didn't want to see Jeff. I hate the sight of death and of its grief-stricken survivors. But I understood that Julia could talk to him more freely in my presence than in Mimi's, so I consented.

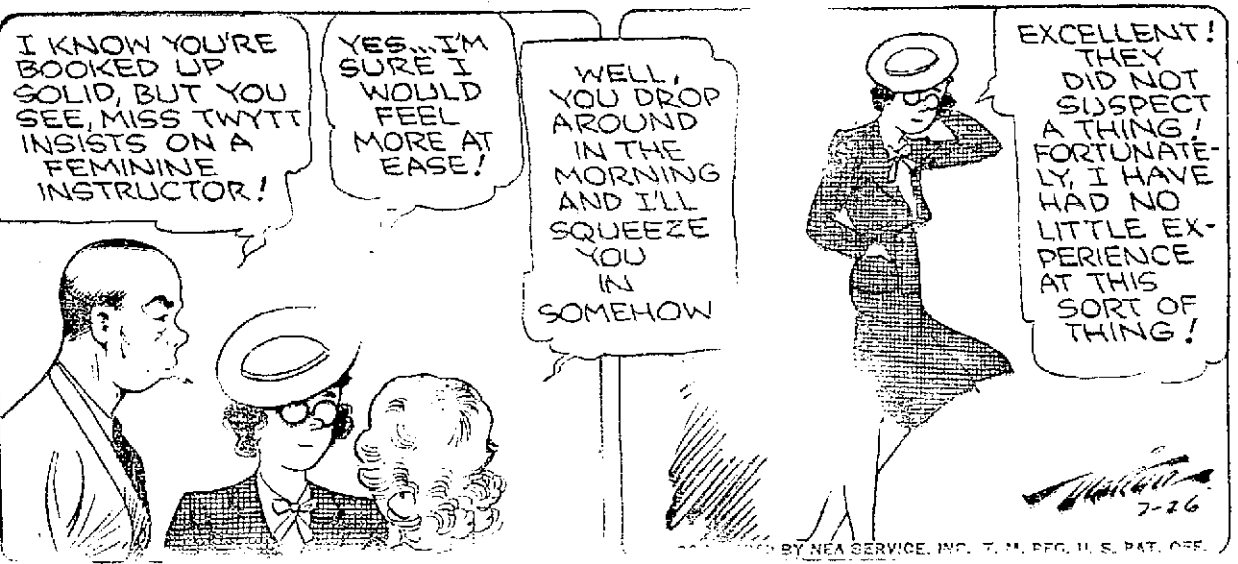

But Jeff was not grief-stricken. Felicia had said he was like a wax figure of himself, and he did look white and stiff. But in his deep-set, rather unexpressive eyes, I could see only bewildered horror and resentment—no anguish.

Picks a Hot Time to Have Heater Installed

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 26—(P)—Attendants at a service station, mopping their brows as the temperature reached 90 degrees yesterday, wondered how the weather was affecting southerners. A woman in a car carrying Mississippi license plates drove in and ordered a heater installed.

Rumanian Envoys At Salzburg

Balkan nations are getting a new type of referee for their old quarrels.

The German objective, it is frequently stated here, is to preserve peace in the Balkans and make them efficient units in the new era Hitler contemplates for Europe with the old era of French and British domination of the Balkans ended.

In addition to calling on Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop today the Rumanians were scheduled for a conference tomorrow with Premier Bogdan Philoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff of Bulgaria; and Sunday with Premier Dr. Joseph Tiso and Foreign Minister Dr. Ferdinand Durandinsky of Slovakia.

Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csapky of Hungary were here recently.

These diplomats come here "to have their new political course acknowledged" by the Axis powers, as one high German official expressed it. The Rumanians at least later will go to Rome for conversations with Premier Mussolini.

Rumania, the first caller, was the key to the entire situation. While Hungary and Bulgaria were World War allies of Germany and have a sentimental attachment to her, Rumania at present is a source of supplies, particularly oil and wheat.

Both Bulgaria and Hungary want war-torn territory from Rumania, the former Dobruja and the latter Transylvania. Rumania is counting on German help to resist these claims. Her Fascist Iron Guardists say they are ready to fight to prevent a transfer of territory.

The German contention is that such conversations as Von Ribbentrop is starting are urgently necessary because England, it is charged, is resorting to every possible trick to try to involve the southeast in war so that it will be unable to provide supplies for the Reich.

robbery of the Hummelstown bank June 21, in which a cashier was shot and wounded.

Keller identified the man as William Jennings Bishop, 43, of Palmyra, and said he made the statement admitting the robbery after lengthy questioning. He was arrested at his home yesterday.

Keller said suspicion had been cast upon him because he was "spending a lot of money."

Keller said the wounded cashier, Ray Gruber, 51, had identified Bishop as the man who shot him and robbed the bank. Twice previously suspects were questioned in the case, but were released when bank employees were unable to identify them.

Part of the loot has been recovered.

Records at the State Board of Pardons show William Jennings Bishop of Palmyra was sentenced to die March 23, 1925, for the murder of Enos Robb in a Palmyra baseball park the night of December 19, 1923.

His term was commuted to life imprisonment by the Board of Pardons on February 28, 1926. He served in the Eastern Penitentiary until November 25, 1933, when he was paroled by the Pardon Board.

At his trial, Bishop claimed he was an innocent victim. He said he had been sleeping in the park and witnessed the man's shooting, but remained quiet because he feared he would be blamed for the murder.

Robb had been seated in an automobile with a girl.

DISCUSS CABINET POST

Harrisburg, July 26—(P)—Presidents of the United Mine Workers' three anthracite districts want the successor to the late John Ira Thomas as state secretary of mines to come from the hard coal region, says Governor James, but they have not recommended any specific person. After a conference yesterday, James said the union heads "were particularly interested in" placing "an anthracite man" on the nine-man anthracite emergency committee, of which Thomas was chairman.

WORK IS RESUMED IN BLAST-TORN COAL PIT

Sonman, July 26—(P)—While a state board resumed its hearing on the Sonman mine explosion, 400 miners were back at work today in undamaged sections of the coal pit.

Another force of men started cleaning up damaged sections of the mine preparatory to resuming operations, which will not start until about 10 days after the state turns it back to the Koppers Coal Company.

The Portage American Legion Post, meanwhile, asked the Altoona post to collect foodstuffs for widows and children of the 63 miners killed in the explosion. The Portage post claimed families of several of the miners are "starving."

Five Ships in Convoy Sunk

ed. An English farmer dashed out and captured the pilot.

British pursuit planes chased off a flight of Nazi raiders winging over a southeast English area.

German planes were reported over southwest England localities and a town in Wales reported the drone of enemy planes overhead but no bombs were dropped there.

The 28 German warplanes shot down by R. A. F. fighters and anti-aircraft batteries in Thursday's day-long battles over the British-isles was a record day's "bag" the government announced.

It was the second successive night of lulls in aerial activities—attributed the previous night to unfavorable weather—and the third since Germany began large-scale daily bombings June 18.

Until twilight, however, massed Nazi air raiders thundered over the English channel in repeated waves yesterday, striking at British ship convoys.

Berlin, July 26—(P)—Authorized German sources accused a section of the press in the unoccupied part of France of calling for release of German-held French soldiers so that France within a year or so could take revenge on Germany.

The French-German armistice provided for release of German prisoners in France but put off the release of French prisoners in Germany.

The 250,000 Polish prisoners are to be released soon, adding further to German efforts toward stabilization of Europe. They will be made available for work in Germany and the German-occupied portion of Poland.

Meanwhile the German High Command in its daily communique said enemy losses amounted Thursday to 68,000 tons of shipping.

Authoritative sources said 23 British planes were shot down yesterday over the British Isles and Germany.

the duties of his office "no longer justify maintenance of political high direction, which no longer is consistent with the realities of the situation."

Avenol said he would announce the date when his resignation becomes effective after a meeting of the supervisory committee he is calling for next month.

Avenol was elected unanimously as secretary-general in October, 1932, and during his term of office saw Japan, Germany, Italy and a number of smaller states join the League.

The League failed to bring peace in the Chinese-Japanese war, the Italian-Ethiopian war and the Spanish civil war, and didn't try seriously to save Albania, Austria, Czechoslovakia or Poland.

Since the outbreak of the war last September League activity has dwindled to almost nothing, for both Great Britain and France decided at the start the League should sit tight and say nothing.

Though Avenol handled few of the League's non-political activities himself, he took personal charge of last year's economy drive and slashed 226 employees from the payroll, leaving 303 on the job. At its peak, in 1933, the League employed 725.

army could get a million volunteers if enlistments were cut down from three years to one—a contention previously disputed by the High Command.

Before the senate military committee, meanwhile, Benjamin Marsh, representing the people's lobby, claimed that compulsory training would represent Hitler's first victory in America.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) said no attempt would be made to reply to the bill's critics until it is ready for Senate debate, probably on Monday. He maintained, however, that the principle was necessary "even if we did not have Hitler."

The army, which will have the huge training task dropped in its lap abruptly if the bill is enacted, went ahead with its plans. The High Command recreated general headquarters, the army which directed World War field operations, to assume exclusive responsibility for training problems.

Rumanian Envoys At Salzburg

Balkan nations are getting a new type of referee for their old quarrels.

The German objective, it is frequently stated here, is to preserve peace in the Balkans and make them efficient units in the new era Hitler contemplates for Europe with the old era of French and British domination of the Balkans ended.

In addition to calling on Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop today the Rumanians were scheduled for a conference tomorrow with Premier Bogdan Philoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff of Bulgaria; and Sunday with Premier Dr. Joseph Tiso and Foreign Minister Dr. Ferdinand Durcansky of Slovakia.

Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Cskay of Hungary were here recently.

These diplomats come here "to have their new political course acknowledged" by the Axis powers, as one high German official expressed it. The Rumanians at least later will go to Rome for conversations with Premier Mussolini.

Rumania, the first caller, was the key to the entire situation. While Hungary and Bulgaria were World War allies of Germany and have a sentimental attachment to her, Rumania at present is important to the Reich as a source of supplies, particularly oil and wheat.

Both Bulgaria and Hungary want war-lost territory from Rumania, the former Dobruja and the latter Transylvania. Rumania is counting on German help to resist these claims. Her Fascist Iron Guardists say they are ready to fight to prevent a transfer of territory.

The German contention is that such conversations as Von Ribbentrop is starting are urgently necessary because England, it is charged, is resorting to every possible trick to try to involve the south-east in war so that it will be unable to provide supplies for the Reich.

robbery of the Hummelstown bank June 21, in which a cashier was shot and wounded.

Keller identified the man as William Jennings Bishop, 43, of Palmyra, and said he made the statement admitting the robbery after lengthy questioning. He was arrested at his home yesterday.

Keller said suspicion had been cast upon him because he was "spending a lot of money."

Keller said the wounded cashier, Ray Gruber, 51, had identified Bishop as the man who shot him and robbed the bank. Twice previously suspects were questioned in the case, but were released when bank employees were unable to identify them.

Part of the loot has been recovered.

Records at the State Board of Pardons show William Jennings Bishop of Palmyra was sentenced to die March 23, 1925, for the murder of Enos Robb in a Palmyra baseball park the night of December 19, 1923.

His term was commuted to life imprisonment by the Board of Pardons on February 28, 1926. He served in the Eastern Penitentiary until November 25, 1938, when he was paroled by the Pardon Board.

At his trial, Bishop claimed he was an innocent victim. He said he had been sleeping in the park and witnessed the man's shooting, but remained quiet because he feared he would be blamed for the murder.

Robb had been seated in an automobile with a girl.

NAVY QUOTA IS INCREASED TO 75 FOR AUGUST

Word has been received at the Navy Recruiting Station in Jamestown, N. Y., according to W. A. Martin, M. M. J. C. and J. J. Gibbon, C. M. M., that the quota of enlistments for the month of August for this district, of which Jamestown is a substation covering Chautauque, Cattaraugus and Warren counties, will be 75 men. At present, of the 75 men required for this district, only 30 men have been accepted. All young Americans between the ages of 18 and 31 who can pass the necessary mental and physical requirements are eligible for enlistment in the navy.

The district navy recruiting office is located in room 22 at the post office building in Jamestown. Office hours are from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. on Saturdays.

Plummer Co., Inc., of Sewickley, Pa., which has the contract for the improvement, one of the major highway jobs in this section on the 1940 program. The project constitutes a complete new highway, following a new route of the tracks, from the grade crossing just west of Garland to the crossing east of the Moore farm.

Information from the contracting company's headquarters at Garland yesterday was to the effect that the grading is fast nearing completion and that actual pouring of concrete is expected to get under way within a week or ten days. Hope is held that the entire job can be completed by late August or early September, assuring use of the new highway early in the fall.

Motorists who have driven through Garland during recent weeks have interestingly followed progress of the extensive grading which has been necessary in building the new road, the Sewickley contractors have been forced to make deep cuts on the eastern end of the stretch, with considerable filling at other places, but have established a grade comparatively level the entire route. An overhead crossing south to connect with the Pittsfield-Titusville concrete at Garland also is provided.

With the grading in the closing stages, the Plummer company hopes to push the concrete pouring rapidly. Confidence was expressed that the entire job would be done within a month or six weeks, having unforeseen delays or protracted bad weather. The splendid progress which already has been made augurs well for completion of the project within the specified time.

The highway department is conducting an interesting experiment in connection with the Garland road, using five different types of building material in its construction.
